How to Write Anything

Do you feel like you struggle to make time for everything? We are living in a time-poor society, working more than ever and with less time for ourselves and family. The pressures and stress of the obligations we feel we have, often leave us without time to do everything that we would like to. More critically, we lack the time to reflect, review our lives and consider our direction. Time to contemplate if the decisions we are making are going to lead us to a life of purpose or an old age filled with regret. Time for Anything is based on 5 years of research by Craig D Robinson. Using the techniques in this book, Craig went from working in an entry level position to, in just four years: start 2 companies, recharge with 12 weeks holiday a year, start a family, grow and sell his startups and retire at the age of 34. This book shows you how you too can have time for it all.

All Dane Gale ever wanted was to be a successful writer. After a few sessions with his new friends Rose and Sherry at a romance book club, well, the more romances they read, the more they're convinced they can do better. And do they ever! They join their creative forces to become "Pamela Clarice," self-published romance novelist. When they look for a cover model for their first book, Dane sees the photos that will change his life. Paul Musegetes is the world's most popular romance cover model, and the most secretive. Dane soon finds himself obsessed with this supernaturally handsome man, and when he meets Paul at the Romance Writers' Ball on the Summer Solstice, he and Paul connect for one night of passion... After that night, Dane's a writing machine. He can't stop writing romances, and every story he touches turns to gold. But he also finds that he can't write anything but romances. And soon he's spending every waking moment of every day writing another after another Then Dane finds out that this Midas touch has a heavy price. When the year is over, he'll never write again. Not a romance, not a serious novel. Nothing. Not even a grocery list. And that leaves him with only one option - find Paul, and get him to break the curse. But before he can do that, he'll have to track down Paul's equally mysterious photographer, Jackson da Vinci... EXCERPT: I stopped crying around my third drink. Rose and Sherry patted me on the shoulder, and we'd reshuffled the chairs so that my back was to the rest of the bar and nobody could see me blubber. "What am I going to do?" I cried. "I'm going to be...nothing. All my life, all I ever wanted to do was write. And then this happened, and I was writing! And I loved it...love it. But the whole idea was that I'd do this till I got rich, and then, I'd write more books like 'The Doldrums,' and if they didn't sell, well, so what?" I finished off my concoction as Rose signaled for another round. "Maybe," Sherry said, a little wobbly herself after two glasses of wine, "he's been around forever. Paul." "What do you mean?" Rose asked. "Maybe he's been doing this throughout the ages," Sherry mused. "For all we know, he's been crowning the Queen of Romance Novels for eternity." Rose's eyebrows went up. "You mean, like, he schtupped Barbara Cartland?" This made me laugh at the worst moment, and I choked on my drink. But Sherry took her seriously. "Sure, or even Jane Austen, for all we know. Maybe she got some after all. And where else did all these ladies keep coming up with tall dark and handsome, huh?" "But that implies he's immortal or supernatural or..." I tailed off. "We should find his old pics, and run them through some kind of facial recognition software. Compare them to the recent ones, see if he's aged..." Rose shook her head. "No, he doesn't look a day older, but he hasn't been around that many years. And look at Elijah Wood! Ever since 'Lord of the Rings,' he hasn't aged a day." "Maybe he's not human either," Sherry speculated.

How to Write a Book in a Week

The story line of Anything for a Friend is straight out of today's international news. The world is being held hostage to Iran's pursuit of a weapon of mass destruction? a nuclear bomb, and the declared intention of destroying its enemy, Israel. One of Iran's nuclear scientists has decided that he cannot bear having the slaughter of millions of Jews on his conscience, and seeks to escape the clutches of his demented Islamic masters. An ultra-secret international organization dedicated to fighting global terrorism known only as 'Mother' has recruited a former U.S. Army Special Forces Ranger for the scientist's exfiltration. Captain Mitch Hazouri, is a unique multi-lingual counter-terrorism specialist, who will assume the undercover role of an Arabic-speaking citizen of the United Arab Emirates and attempt the rescue of the Iranian scientist. He will enter Iran posing as a contract employee of an Iraqi manufacturer of armored automobiles, escorting a convoy of new vehicles from Mosul, Iraq, to Tehran. Working with an Israeli Mossad agent in Tehran, he must devise on his own a way to get the scientist out of Iran. Standing in his way is an evil mass murderer, who uses an alkaline hydrolysis process to reduce the cadavers of his enemies to a flushable liquid in a place he calls 'the soup room.' He would like nothing better than to add Mitch Hazouri to his 'soup of the day.' While

Anything for a Friend is a work of fiction, many of the characters and organizations, including 'Mother' are authentic. Some portions of the story have actually transpired and serve to underline the very real possibility of the story's outcome. The alkaline hydrolysis process of the "soup room" for dissolving human cadavers is real, as is the Polish Antonov AN-2 used in the escape flight from Iran, and Hazouri's personal weapon, the H&K MP7A1.

Teaching with How to Write Anything

When it comes to How To Write Anything, the thinking, exercises, and techniques presented in this book are for people who want to write, no matter what they want to write."Are you sure about fiction?" I hear you ask. While the focus of this book is on writing non-fiction, the process spelled out here is applicable for writing fiction. In fact, there are sections in the book explicitly for fiction writers."Any non-fiction?" you may ask. Absolutely. It does not matter the style you use or the type of document that you need to produce. For instance, you might write in an expository style, a style in which your purpose is used to inform or explain. You might write in a persuasive manner, state your opinion, and attempt to influence the reader. You might write in narrative style or write creative non-fiction. Or your writing may be descriptive, writing that uses the five senses to paint a picture for the reader. No matter the style, this book will work for you. No matter the type of document, How to Write Anything outlines the process you follow to eliminate the blank page and outline your document before you write. You will know what it is you want to write before you start the formal process of writing. In other words, this book will get you to the point where it is all over but the writing by showing you how to create a detailed and logical outline of any document that you want to write. Following the process spelled out here will make you a more effective and efficient writer.

Before You Even Open Your Mouth

Don't Shoot Yourself in the Foot Before You Even Open Your Mouth! The Writing Guide for Professional Speakers. Do you want to become a professional public speaker, someone who gets paid to speak in public about topics you are passionate about? If so, I've got good news and bad news. The bad news is that it's a crowded ole world out there—every Tom, Dick, and Harriet seem to be a "professional" speaker, armed with a book, a blog, and a boatload of subject-matter expertise. The good news is that only a few of these "professionals" can spell or even construct a correct sentence in American English. Look around! If you want to stand out, if you want to impress potential hosts, if you want to get hired again and again, then you have to recognize that your written words will probably be read before your spoken words are heard. In other words, your written words have to be flawless. In Before You Even Open Your Mouth, nine-time, award-winning author and public speaker Liz Cursen shares her expertise about how to write to impress. Liz speaks professionally 80-100 times each year, and part of her success, she believes, is the attention to detail she brings to every aspect of her speaking, including her promotional materials. "Punctuation and grammar is easy, and it's fun," she says. "And, since our writing is part of how people judge us, it's important for every professional speaker to know how to write well."
